There is more catarrh in this section of the country than in other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, it has become a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only cure that acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that fails to be cured by this medicine. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: P. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

RUMMAGE SALES.

"The Spectator" Tells About Them in The Outlook.

"The Spectator," writing in the Outlook, tells the following story of a rummage sale:

The Spectator has been staying with some friends in a Southern town where a "rummage sale" for the benefit of a local charity has been going merrily on.

The Spectator must confess to an entire ignorance, previous to his visit, as to what a rummage sale might be, although he has since been informed that these sales are sweeping over the United States like a cyclone, carrying all before them, and sometimes striking three weeks in the same town.

During a reasonably long life, the Spectator asserts with confidence, he has bought tickets for and spent money at about every kind of charitable entertainment hitherto known—fairs, strawberry festivals, kermesses, tableaux, candy, doll bag, and apron sales, theatricals, pink teas, pound parties, and the rest. But this rummage sale was a surprise even to his veteran mind. It towers high in his memory above all other charitable affairs by its supreme cheapness, its immense popularity, its disproportionate receipts and its extreme picturesque quality.

It comprises the Old Curiosity Shop and the rag store, the store of old clothes, the store of old books, the store of old toys, the store of old furniture, the store of old everything, and the store of old nothing. It is a store of old everything, and the one wonder why nobody ever thought of it before.

Every rummage sale is bound to be a success, in the first place, because it appeals to two of the most fundamental instincts of the human heart—the instinct for hoarding useless articles, and the primal passion for bargains. The managers of such a sale appeal to all their friends to give them "some of the old things you have put away in the attic."

Now, everybody has something put away in the attic, or hanging in the closet, or in the trunk, that he or she knows in his or her secret heart of hearts will never be used. It is, of course, not to be expected that people, however charitably inclined, will give all their useless things to the rummage sale, for that would be to deprive them of a human nature; but perhaps a third of them will be relinquished with a warm glow of conscious generosity in the giving.

Thus, day after day, the Spectator saw a wagon driving up and down the streets of the town, with a white sheet on its side marked "Collecting for the Rummage Sale," and every time it stopped, something queerer in than the last.

In this way a truly unique collection became the property of the managers—autographs, rare coins, old books, old clocks, old dishes, old chairs, old baskets, dresses, door-knobs, dress-sticks, engravings, egg-beaters, furniture, fish-dishes, forks, glass, gloves, glass-stoves, ginger-jars, hunting-boots, hour-glasses, hoes, and so on down the alphabet, until a second-hand department store was slowly evolved out of the rummage sale.

With the managers and their friends as sales-women, and the appeal to the second great human instinct—that of bargaining—began.

Dull aching breaks your rest at night. Urinary disorders add to your misery. Get at the cause—cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills will work the cure.

F. A. Beede of East Barre, Vt., says: "I was bothered with a constant lameness across my back and kidneys. I was very restless at night and when I awoke mornings I felt more tired than when I went to bed. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended for such troubles and went to E. A. Drown's drug store for a box. They proved to be just what I needed. It was not long before the lameness left my back and I could sleep well nights. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me, and I shall always be glad to tell people of my experience with this remedy."

W. C. T. U. Space.

This space belongs to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and they are responsible for what they print.

Among the statistics quoted by temperance lecturers is the item to the effect that "in the United States 32,000,000 people live in prohibition territory."

At surface reading this is a most encouraging fact, but it must be qualified. "Prohibition territory" does not mean territory that is hermetically sealed against the inroads of alcoholic influences. The 32,000,000 fortunate breathe a purer air than their neighbors in non-prohibition territory, but they are not secure from infection.

Do we hear our friends, the enemy, exclaim: "We said so all the time! Prohibition does not—!" But stay! We have not so stated. When we shut the doors of our iniquity in Smith county and padlock them by the iron force of law, we prohibit, and the law prohibits, and prohibition prohibits you from setting the feet of your blight within Smith county borders.

But what we have not done is this: We have not prohibited the boy in Jones county, where you reign supreme, from courting our sweet daughter and winning her away to rear a family under the red flag of sin and danger, degeneracy and death. We have not prohibited the men and women in Jones county from coming to work in Smith county, bringing with them the curse that shakes the security of our prohibition territory.

We have prohibited your license and your trade from certain territory; you stand for an iniquity so far-reaching, so subtle in its influence that mere man cannot measure it—an iniquity that puts its leprous touch upon brain, law, soul, spirit, sense, and which steals into our prohibition territory by the channels of business, through the avenues of pleasure, with the prescription from the doctor—an iniquity whose touch and grasp is stayed only at the mouth of the grave. Until your license and your trade are made wholly powerless in the nation and the world, by prohibitive law, no territory can be made wholly free from your menace.

This is your meaning when you say: "Prohibition does not prohibit!" For insofar as the nation has not fractional courage, it manacles the very laws it seeks to render operative.

PUT ON YOUR CLOTHES.

There's truth I wish to declare, For I'm not a pretty young face, You're an artist in doing your hair, And the line of your figure all grace is, But one thing you really should learn, It is vital, as you may suppose, For it's certain you never at least hardly ever—

Know just how to put on your clothes, There are ladies away in the States, Across the blue-grass of the ocean, They dress like the chic fashion plates, And arouse quite the deepest emotion. They may not be built on your plan, But each one of these ladies well knows That the way to be smart is to study the art Of wearing their beautiful clothes

They are gowned in the very best style, There's a poem in each of their actions, They make (for of course it's worth while) The most of their special attractions, So, lady of Britain's dear shores— Whether Shamrock or Thistle or Rose— There is clearly a duty you owe to your beauty— Pray learn how to put on your clothes. —London Globe.
